

SEATTLE BIKE AND OUTDOOR SHOW

The Seattle Bike Show wants to express our concern for everyone impacted by the COVID-19 virus in the State of Washington and around the world.

We are closely monitoring the situation as State agencies take proactive measures to ensure health and safety and prepare for and respond to the COVID-19 virus in our State. As always, the well-being of our cycling community, from our attendees and exhibitors to our staff on-site, is of the utmost importance to us and we take pride in creating a positive environment to celebrate the cycling community.

Out of respect for the sponsors and exhibitors that have traveled to Seattle to be a part of this year's show, and the consumers who have either already purchased tickets, or made plans to attend the show this weekend, the Seattle Bike Show WILL BE OPEN on Saturday only, with revised hours from 9 a.m. - 4 p.m. There will be no bike show activities on Sunday. Furthermore, due to the reduced number of manufacturers and exhibitors attending this year's show, admission for all attendees will be free of charge. A revised list of exhibitors that will be attending the show is included below. If you have already purchased tickets, you will be contacted about a refund.

We are implementing enhanced cleaning and sanitization across the show, including adhering to the recommendations set forth in the U.S. EPA's Emerging Pathogen Policy regarding cleaning disinfectants effective against the COVID-19 virus. We are also working closely with the CenturyLink Field Event Center and our other venue partners and aligning with local, state and federal public health guidelines and agencies.

Thank you for your understanding as we all navigate this challenging and ever-evolving situation. We hope to see you at the show on Saturday.
